Would you give your personal information to a felon?

That’s what happens every day when consumers unknowingly do business on rogue websites.

Rogue websites—websites that are dedicated to selling counterfeit goods and/or pirating copyrighted materials—pose serious health risks through the sale of fake products, steal jobs through online piracy, cost our economy billions of dollars, and put consumers at risk of malicious viruses and identity theft.

Congress: We can’t wait any longer. Protect American jobs and consumers by supporting S. 3804, the Combating Online Infringement and Counterfeits Act (COICA).
